2. Click the button in the bottom left corner to turn your microphone on or off. You can also hold the 1 key to activate your microphone in the "push to talk" style.
3. There's a text chat window that you can use to chat and share files with other people in STREAM World.
4. Use the Go To menu in the top left to find a list of all the rooms that you can teleport to.

TIPS:

- A headset or earbuds are strongly recommended to reduce the possibility of echo or feedback.
- You can only communicate with users who are in the same location as you. For example, if you're in the auditorium and someone else is in the Conference Hall, you won't be able to hear each other.
- You can dance and do other animations if you want! Click your name on the top left of the screen to see some of the things you can have your avatar do. This can be a fun and effective way to communicate non-verbally.
- If other users are in the same space as you, you'll see their names in a list in the top left. To see where all the users in the Campus are, though, you can click the gear icon in the top right and then select "Find Users".

The menu under your account name allows you to change your avatar, view your profile, and use emotes.

Voice Chat

When the program opens, your microphone will be muted.

Click on the microphone icon to open your microphone. A blue chat bubble will appear above this to indicate that others can hear you.

VirBELA has built in voice detection. While you are speaking, a speech bubble will appear above your avatar's head.

Alternatively, you can use the push-to-talk function to open the microphone when:

Hold the 1 Key → Open Mic
Enter Toggle → Text Chat

To use a presentation board, simply click on it. A URL bar will appear in the bottom right corner of the screen to show you it is active.

Use this bar like a regular browser to navigate the web. You may also take ownership of the board, and activate screen sharing or webcam sharing from here.
